

BLOCING UP

VOL II

Complete with tips and tricks and unsolicited advice!

Warning: highly condensed history.
Consider diluting with further reading.

Why you should consider dressing in black with your closest pals

more at @headingnorther

Nice to see you again!
I'm your friendly neighborhood anti-fascist, here to talk to you about bloc.

Black bloc is a strategy to avoid police surveillance by dressing in generic black.

BLOC

- Cover face and hair
- Cover tattoos and piercings
- Carry a black bag

TIPS

- Use black tape to cover visible logos
- No plain black shirt? Turn one inside out
- Try a t-shirt balaclava (but wear a mask underneath to protect against COVID-19)
- Change up your bloc often - including bag

DEBLOC

Wearing bloc in transit makes you a target.

Find a safe place w/out cameras to bloc up and debloc!

- Colorful mask & shirt (aim for irony)
- Stow all gear
- Don't bring anything you're not willing to lose

History & Purpose

Black bloc originated in the Autonomien movement in West Berlin from 1980-81 when, facing a housing crisis thousands of people squatted in abandoned buildings.²

Black blocs are most often utilized to combat surveillance technology.⁴ It's often associated with anti-capitalist, anti-imperialist, anarchist movements - but since its popularization it has been used by diverse movements including Hong Kong pro-democracy protesters.⁵

Over the next decade, bloc became common in Germany and then spread to the rest of the world.

Blocs are known for employing a diversity of tactics including resisting police dispersal and property damage.⁶

Berlin 1988: 80,000 protesters, 8,000 black bloc, disrupt IMF/WB congress.⁸

Seattle 1999: anti WTO protests mark first large black bloc in North America; national media attention.¹⁰

of Black Bloc

Egypt 2013:

So why should you consider blocing up?

- To avoid surveillance & remain anonymous.
- Even if you don't think you're breaking any laws, police are arresting people for no more than their presence at protests.

Following revolution, Black Bloc formed to protect large anti-government protests & shut down public transit.¹²

- To protect others: if you look the same as vulnerable people (eg, people on the front lines, people who are more marginalized) it's harder to identify them.
- It encourages widespread participation: anyone can wear black.
- It promotes unity & solidarity.¹³

Hong Kong 2019:

Huge black blocs battle with police, vandalize shopping malls and more in pro-democracy protests, a direct result of proposed extradition bill.¹⁵

Classic
black bloc:

The bloc has no singular leadership, but it does have tactical strategy.¹⁶

Anyone can be part of the black bloc. Much of the black bloc is very young.

In Portland (and, generally, the US) blocs are most often made up of discrete affinity groups.

Affinity groups are based on trusted friendships. Groups come together to form a large, decentralized bloc that can accomplish goals.

Mom and dad bloc are both forms of non-anonymous bloc. Other examples include chef bloc & lawyer bloc; these forms of bloc use the wearer's identity to send a public message, and the uniformity of bloc to show unity.

Heads up: anyone can wear bloc. Don't assume someone's race, risk level, or anything else about a person in bloc.

DISADVANTAGES

- Small groups of people in bloc can be targets for police
- Bloc works best in environments where bloc members have a place to slip away and debloc (ie it works better in a city than a field).
- And it works better at actions you can leave.
- Media tends to portray bloc negatively- using bloc to reach the public through these channels is difficult.

These are some of the reasons why bloc isn't used at every action.¹⁷

SO YOU'RE AT A PORTLAND PROTEST

During a dispersal, it's easy to panic.

Don't panic.

Running is a natural response to dispersal, but it leaves people behind and can lead to trampling.

It's important to keep in touch with your affinity group and protest buddies.

For all these reasons:

walk don't run¹⁸

(and don't turn your back on the riot cops)

Walk don't run

DOS AND DON'TS

Hi, I'm
DON'T introduce yourself with your real name

Howdy- I'm FNAF

DO come up with an easy to hear nickname to use in bloc.ia

DO spread accurate information on your social media

♡ ♡ ♡ ♡

DON'T post pics or videos of protests (best case: disrespectful worst: dangerous)

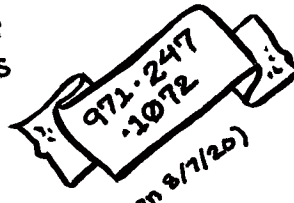

♡ ♡ ♡ ♡

DON'T talk to your non-protesting friends and families about specific protest activities

DON'T bring your phone to protests- or at least turn off face/fingerprint unlocking

DO write the National Lawyers Guild PDX jail line on your body before you head out

DO talk to friends & family about abolition, protests, racism...

DO have a protest buddy

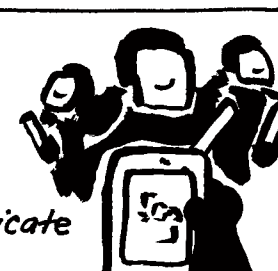

DO establish clearly defined limits with them: are you comfortable defying lawful orders? Being fear gassed? Getting arrested?

DON'T livestream protestors' actions or faces. PPB uses streams for intel.

hey!

DO point your phone at the cops. Consider delaying your stream by ~30 min to complicate their response.

DON'T TALK TO COPS:
an illustrated guide

I would like a lawyer. I am invoking my right to remain silent.

ACTION ITEMS

After a stressful protest, a narrow escape, or a daring action, you'll have some emotions to unpack. Being attacked by police is traumatic; talk to your protest partner and affinity group. Help each other process. Doing so will make you more effective in the long run.

As advertised: unsolicited advice

- Spend time with people outside of the context of actions
- Take breaks
- Quest Center is offering free mental health services & acupuncture for BIPOC protestors (as of June 19, 2020) quest-center.org
- Rosehip Medic Collective has a collection of local resources at rosehipmedics.org/links-and-resources/local-community-resources

Bloc curious? For a lot more info on how to do bloc right, check out the zine "Blocs, Black and Otherwise"

(see citations)

Citations:

1. Crimethink, "Blocs, Black and Otherwise"
2. Autonomous Resistance, "Can't Stop Kaos: A Brief History of the Black Bloc"
3. T. Ordeman, Squatters in Kreuzberg, 1981, Wikimedia Commons
4. Autonomous Resistance: "Can't stop Kaos: a Brief History of the Black Bloc"
5. Vitalist International, "Summer in Smoke Report from the World's Biggest Bloc," 325 RSS, December 10, 2019
6. Crimethink, "Blocs, Black and Otherwise"
7. Autonomous Resistance, "Can't Stop Kaos..." "
8. Autonomous Resistance, "Can't Stop Kaos..." "
9. B. Keiser, Demonstrators don sea turtle costumes 1999
10. Autonomous Resistance, "Can't Stop Kaos".
11. K. Desouki, 2013, Getty Images
12. W. Eskandar, "The Black Bloc: Evolution of the Revolution," Middle East Institute, April 25, 2013
13. Crimethink, "Blocs, Black and Otherwise"
14. A. Kwan, Hong Kongers Protest, June 12, 2019, Getty Images
15. Vitalist International, "Summer in Smoke Report from the World's Biggest Bloc," 325 RSS, December 10, 2019
16. Crimethink, "Blocs, Black and Otherwise"
17. Crimethink, "Blocs, Black and Otherwise"
18. Crimethink, "Blocs, Black and Otherwise"
19. Crimethink, "Blocs, Black and Otherwise"
20. Crimethink, "Blocs, Black and Otherwise"

Notice any patterns? If you want to learn a lot more about the history, implementation, and impact of bloc, check out the two zines:

"Blocs, Black and Otherwise" (Crimethink)

"Can't stop Kaos: a Brief History of the Black Bloc" (Autonomous Resistance)

Both of which are a quick google away.

Print your own from zines.headingnorther.com!
 @headingnorther

headingnorther@gmail.com

August 7th 2020

From southeastman and headingnorther